

Generation Z for community development and sustainability

The GenZ4GD project aims to develop a training and capacity building program for young people to actively participate in the development of their (local) community and environment and encourage young people to think more actively about sustainable development, environmental protection and other "green" topics.

RATIONALE

Connected to each other like never before, young people want to contribute to the resilience of their communities, proposing innovative solutions, driving social progress, and inspiring political change. They are also agents of change, mobilizing to advance the Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) to improve the lives of people and the health of the planet. Youth-led organizations need to be encouraged and empowered to participate in translating the 2030 Agenda into local, national, and regional policy.

AIMS AND OBJECTIVES

- The development of a training and capacity building program for young people to actively participate in the development of their (local) community and environment
- The encouragement of young people to think more actively about sustainable development, environmental protection and other "green" topics.

TARGET GROUPS

Youth Workers

Young People (15 - 30 years old)

Get in touch with us:

COORDINATOR

PARTNERS

Co-funded by the European Union

This project has been funded with support from the European Commission. This communication reflects the views only of the author, and the Commission cannot be held responsible for any use which may be made of the information contained therein.
Submission Number: 2021-1-RO01-KA220-YOU-000028774
ERASMUS+ KA2 STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIP IN YOUTH