

PRESS RELEASE

Multiplier Event

30th of January & 7th of February 2024

Cyprus

Emphasys Centre organised the Multiplier Event in Cyprus in two parts a) Part 1 on the 30th of January 2024 at TESEK Limassol b) Part 2 on the 7th of February 2024 at Latsia Lyceum.

Part 1:

On the 30th of January 2024, Emphasys Centre organized a face-to-face Multiplier Event for the GENZ4GREENDEAL project in Cyprus at TESEK Limassol. During the event, members of the target group such as Youth Workers/Teachers and Youth Workers from Environmental Organizations and other stakeholders attended, who had shown interest in the activities that were conducted.

Firstly, participants were presented with the GENZ4GREENDEAL project's aims, objectives, interactive map with best practices, youth workers' handbook and the Podcasts developed throughout the project lifetime.

After the presentation, participants were invited to participate in an innovative role-play. During this part, the participants were separated into 4 different stakeholder groups; Government representatives, industry representatives, activists and scientists. The industry representatives, activists and scientists, had to gather evidence and arguments to influence the government representatives' decisions on climate change policy. Once they had done their research, they expressed their opinions to the government representatives and the government made a final statement regarding its decisions. A debate round followed and in the end, the governmental decisions were finalized.

Through this activity, the participants gained very useful insights about different topics that are affected by climate change, therefore touching on the project's other modules that are included in the handbook, and further showing the different perspectives of sustainable development and its effect on climate change

Before concluding the session, a Q&A session was allocated at the end of the session for questions and feedback towards Emphasys' representatives by the participants, as well as for discussing the project's podcasts. The event was very successful with 20 enthusiastic participants learning about climate change and the need for sustainable development.

Part 2:

On the 2nd of February 2024, Emphasys Centre organized the second face-to-face Multiplier Event for the GENZ4GREENDEAL project in Cyprus at Latsia Lyceum, Nicosia. During the event, members of the target group such as Young People/Students and Youth Workers/Teachers attended, who had shown interest in the activities that were conducted.

At the beginning of each session, participants were presented with the GENZ4GREENDEAL project's aims, objectives, interactive map with best practices, youth workers' handbook and the Podcasts developed throughout the project lifetime.

After the presentation, participants were invited to design a green enterprise, aiming to promote sustainable development in their communities through it. During this part, the participants had the chance to exchange opinions and express their questions with the Emphasys Centre's representative, as well as learn more information about the project. Once they had designed their enterprises, they were called to present them in front of the other participants, highlighting its impact on the environment and their contribution towards sustainable development.

The event was very successful with 44 participants learning about environmental topics, as well as the need for sustainable development to fight the ongoing climate crisis.
